Sample Social Media Posts

Tell your school networks to tune in on April 27! Below are social media posts you can use. Original posts are also welcome and encouraged!

Event registration:

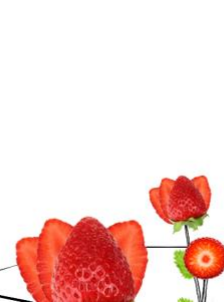

- On April 27, bring your students on a virtual tour of school gardens across the country! Students from coast to coast will show off their gardens, share their favorite garden activities, and more! Register at Growingschoolgardens.org Follow @sgsonetwork for more info!
- Young people from across the country will be gathering on April 27 for the first-ever virtual school garden tour! Students from Hawai'i to D.C. will share with your students how STEM education, nutrition and environmental literacy, hope and healing are brought to life through outdoor learning. Register here at Growingschoolgardens.org. Follow @sgsonetwork for more info!

Engagement opportunities:

- Looking for activities to engage your students outside? Find inspiration from school gardens across the country through the Coast to Coast Virtual School Garden Tour videos and kid-friendly lessons! Try out the activities and follow @sgsonetwork for a chance to win support for your own school garden!
- Through April, win support for your school garden through the #growingschoolgardens contest! Weekly prizes for a $100 Gardener's Supply gift card. Follow @sgsonetwork on Twitter or Instagram for details!
- Turnip the learning! Growingschoolgardens.org has garden-based videos and kid-friendly lessons available on their site for you to try with your students. Follow @sgsonetwork for more information.
- Spring is in bloom! The #growingschoolgardens campaign includes great ideas from school gardeners, like you, about how to keep kids engaged in garden-based learning. Check out the videos on their site at growingschoolgardens.org and follow the hashtag for inspiration!
- Join the Kids Garden Month fun with KidsGardening throughout April with the "What do you love about your garden?" contest! Weekly prizes and grand prizes, including a $500 grant from Sprouts Healthy Communities Foundation! (please tag KidsGardening based on the platform you're in)
